DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 12-14, 20 and 22a re rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by US 6,544,616.

The reference discloses a recording medium comprising a substrate, a recording layer (active layer) , a metal layer, and a UV-curable protective layer. The metal layer is a silver alloy. See col. 9. the metal layer may be 8-12nm in thickness. See Example 2. It is recognized that the reference does not specify that the recording layer id deformable. However, as all materials are deformable or may be ablated at high enough temperatures. i.e. high laser intensities, this is seen to be an inherent property.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 15-17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over US 6,544,616 in view of EP-0387016.

Art Unit: 1794

The '616 reference discloses a recording medium as described in the above rejection. It is recognized that the reference does not disclose a recording composition including tellurium and zinc. However, the '016 reference shows that recording materials comprising tellurium and zinc in the claimed atomic percentages in known. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to substitute the recording material of the '016 medium for the recording material in the '616 medium. Substituting known materials for one another would yield predictable results.

Double Patenting

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 12-22 are provisionally rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claim 12-22 of copending Application No. 11/535,338. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because they cover the same recording medium comprising an active layer and metal layer where the layers are formed of the same materials in the same thickness. It is recognized that the claims do not specify that the active layer is deformable. However, when looking to the specification to further define the layer, this is found. See [0014].

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.
